Reflective Writing

In my writing my essay on the Second Amendment the right to bear arms, I choose this essay as my assignment as I feel strongly that we do have the right to bear arms and based on the Constitution the definition maybe vague, but it allows laws to be changed as needed due to cases that raise attention on the right to bear arms and what type of arms.

I learned in American National Politics that there are many levels that constitute the public opinions on the matter of the safety of bearing arms, but also how the law also protects our Constitutional right and that if we allow the right to be taken away we are also opening other doors that can take away civil liberties and civil rights that were established to protect the people.

I did enjoy learning about American National Politics and how it pertains to our daily functions of a Nation. I do feel that certain things in the government can be amended but our rights and liberties should always be protected. If we start removing laws and boundaries that our four fathers created I feel that we will no longer be looked at as a strong America but a weak and defenseless America and by doing that we may encounter more terrorist acts upon our nation.
